

ABSTRACT

The present invention provides oligonucleotides that can serve as substrates for human Type 2 RNase H. The present invention is also directed to methods of using 5 these oligonucleotides in enhancing antisense oligonucleotide therapies.